

Love (Awkwardly)

Q: How do you handle emotions that are adult in magnitude when you're cramped by the confines of high school?

A. Awkwardly

Love (Awkwardly) focuses on the wonderful, painful, exhilarating and awkward moments of relationships. The play is a comedy that follows eight Juniors and Seniors as they are confronted by how to handle emotions that are adult in magnitude but are cramped by the confines of high school.

The play is a collaborative process by playwrights Maryann Carolan & John Rotondo and twelve juniors and seniors from Union Catholic. Together, they brainstormed critical ideas in relationships: the first kiss, flirting, dating, breaking up and going to college.

The play is being directed by Carolan & Rotondo and assistant directed by Jordan Morrisey (UC '10).

The collaborators are: Chris Brown ('09), Angelo Cerimele ('09), Alex Cortés ('09), Greg Gedman ('10), Arielle Gonzalez ('10), Jenna Lloyd ('09), Conor McDonough ('10), Sammie Mellina ('10), Taziana Molinaro ('09), Jordan Morrisey ('10), Justine Mujica ('10) and Jeanette Rudnicki ('09).

The cast features Bobby Dyckman, Greg Gedman, Arielle Gonzalez, Conor McDonough, Sammie Mellina, Taziana Molinaro, Jordan Morrisey and Justine Mujica.

Love (Awkwardly) June 25, 26 & 27 at 8pm at Union Catholic Regional High School in Scotch Plains, New Jersey

Tickets are $5 students/senior citizens, $10 standard. All seats are reserved. Please call 908.889.1600 x318.